JOHN BARRETT AND WIFE ARRESTED ON POSSESSION CHARGE

Local Couple Arrested After Raid on Mishawaka Av. Grocery Wednesday.

John Barrett and his wife, Sophia, who run a grocery and meat market at 515 E. Mishawaka av., were both arrested Wednesday morning as the result of a raid on their premises, conducted by Chief of Police Harry W. Barrows, Capt. Beehler, and Motorcycle Cop Marchant, in which a small quantity of moonshine whiskey and a keg full of wine were confiscated.

The raid was the result of testimony given in the city court Wednesday morning by Hans Berg, employed at the Rubber Regenerating Co., on a new tank under construction. Berg, picked up Tuesday at the Four Corners, in a lethargic condition, admitted being intoxicated, and said he would tell where he had obtained the liquor to the court. Not giving Berg a chance to forget it, Chief Barrows and his posse hustled Berg into a car, and went to Barrett's place.

Upon their entrance, Mrs. Barrett is said to have attempted to throw the bottle of "mule" away, but was prevented from so doing by the officers. Barrett and his wife were taken to the police station where they were booked on the charge of unlawful possession.

According to police records, both Barrett and his wife have been arrested on similar charges. Barrett having two convictions to his discredit. The last conviction against Barrett was in April, when, on the same charges, he was fined $250 and given a six months' suspended sentence. At that time he was operating a grocery at the corner of Elm and North sts., and was ordered by the court to cease business. Barrett later opened his present place.
